

Guidance videos on writing in research

01

Literature searching

In order to write about your topic, you need to find and read other research that will help contextualise your study.

02

Referencing

A quick guide to ensuring that you correctly cite and reference the other research that you incorporate into your writing.

03

Proposal writing

This video takes you through the process of writing a research proposal/protocol.

04

Mapping literature review

How do you get from reading to writing? This video provides guidance on how to map the literature review from your reading.

05

Writing conventions

Academic writing follows particular conventions. Learning these can help you write your literature review.

06

Others' voices

A guidance video on how to incorporate other people's voices (research) into your writing.

07

Your voice

Learning simple ways of incorporating your own voice into your writing.

08

Results & Discussion

Writing up the results and discussion in a way that links these sections together.

09

Writing an abstract

Writing the abstract is usually the last thing you do, summarising your whole study.

10

Publishing the manuscript

Guidance on how to publish your research in an academic journal.