		In order to promote Employment Equity and diversity, the Rectorate recently approved the Code for Management Practices for Employment Equity. The Code provides guidelines for management practices and will advance employment equity and reasonable accommodation of people with disabilities. Prior to approval, the Code was extensively discussed with all environments and their inputs had been considered and appropriately integrated into the document. It is important to note that the Code is not a comprehensive

Yes	human resources manual but will serve as an instrument to identify aspects of human resources that are key to employment equity and that can advance employment equity objectives. Training workshops are being conducted with all university environments to ensure smooth transition and implementation. Some of the objectives of the Code are to eliminate unfair discrimination and advance employment equity, complement various SU policies and procedures that are related to employment equity, assist SU environments with the practical aspects of advancing employment equity and reasonable accommodation of people with disabilities and to establish norms and standards for reasonable accommodation measures, assistive technologies and devices for the benefit of people with disabilities. Some of the highlights of the code include the explicit formulation of the advertisements to advance diversity. One of the following formulations may be used, the &#32902;&#23458;&#36275;&#29699; is committed to employment equity (EE), and appointments will be n for the specific environment as well as SUâ€™s institutional EE Plan or the &#32902;&#23458;&#36275;&# employment equity (EE). In accordance with SUâ€™s institutional EE Plan and that for the specific environment, only South African citizens from the designated groups will be considered for appointment.
