- To serve in the many fields to which I have been called to work, where my skills, national and international experience and commitment could be utilised for the benefit of those to whom the future belongs
- To continue promoting tolerance, justice, democracy and a just society
- To build communities capable of faithfully executing their responsibilities in the new environment of a global economy, the dialectic of modernity and post-modernity, struggles for a better understanding of community (human and ecological) and the contradictions of living in a smaller technological world
- To continue contributing to a peaceful world, sustainable societies and improved human relationships
- To strengthen dialogue on unity and resolve conflict in diverse communities
- To serve stakeholders of my environment and institution
